On Friday, December 16th, five non-profit organizations gathered together at River of Life Church for Celebrate the Season. Oaklawn, Lexington House, River Of Life, & Excel Goodwill. The first 200 in the door received a turkey dinner and gift cards of $25 - $50. There was a talent show, prizes, a dancing elf, and gift cards that I was able to buy movies with. It turned out to be a wonderful holiday evening.

Christmas Tree Lighting

A few colleagues from Lexington House Headed to Main Street in downtown Elkhart to see the winter parade as well as the lighting of the big tree downtown. The parade featured all sorts of Holiday lights and costumes, including a few Christmas floats and lots of interesting vehicles wrapped in Christmas lights. Once the parade was over, we headed to the plaza where everyone was gathered to sing Christmas songs and light up the tree. There were even a couple groups there singing Christmas carols onstage. After the songs, the tree lit up & everyone cheered. It was a great Holiday activity, and we look forward to what the parade will have next year!

Christmas Party

Lexington House of Elkhart celebrated Christmas together this year on the final day of the year. This was due to the blizzard that the area of Elkhart interfering with the day of Christmas making it where it would have been unsafe for staff and colleagues of Lexington House to meet. Even though it was rescheduled, the colleagues still met a week later, on the last day of the year, and had a great time. To help celebrate, the colleagues and staff ate sub sandwiches from a local Subway. The subs came with a box of condiments for the sandwiches featuring items like lettuce, tomatoes, and the writer's favorite: jalapenos! Additionally, aside from eating, the colleagues and staff of Lexington House did a lot of socializing. Overall, even though the Christmas celebration was postponed, it was a great time for all that attended. We look forward to celebrating again next year!
